

Rafts

The size of the flooring raft is determined by product quality and performance. A larger raft is generally seen as a good thing as it provides greater consistency over a larger space with less need to use additional trims.

However, Clever Choice also offers colour-matching trims to mitigate issues with smaller rafts, and additional expansion trims can enhance overall performance.

Example

A large raft could be used to cover an entire, open-plan entrance hallway and living space as you would expect similar conditions throughout the area.

However, even if the raft was large enough, it wouldn't be recommended to cover a bedroom and WIR, or even an adjoining corridor, as you would expect different conditions throughout the day.

Doors open or closed, air-conditioning on, windows open — all could change the environment enough to cause cupping, squeaking, gapping etc.
