

Texture & Embossing

Smooth

Products featuring a smooth finish have no embossing, often resulting in a high-gloss, textureless surface.

Brushed

Brushing is a process applied directly to the surface of some timber products to bring out the natural features and textures of the wood grain.

Embossed

Products featuring an emboss have the same grain texture pressed into every panel, no matter what the pattern is. This creates a semi-realistic texture.

Grain Matched Emboss

This is the highest standard of floor texture where the press used for the emboss is etched to match the printed pattern to provide an ultra realistic finish.
